

The Owl and I

Poem: Reg Down

© Copyright 1996 AWSNA Publications - with thanks.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication, in part or in whole may be reproduced, transmitted or utilized in any form, without the permission of the author, except for brief quotations in critical articles and reviews.

I saw an owl,
Within a tree,
He stared at me—
He did! He did!

I stared at him,
He stared at me,
We spent the day
In disagree—
We did! We did!

“To stare is rude
You owly bird!”
“Too-whit to you!”
Said he—
He did! He did!